

'TRANS DAY OF VISIBILITY IS IMPORTANT TO SHOW THOSE WHO HAVE NOT YET TRANSITIONED THAT YOU CAN SUCCEED AND YOU CAN BE YOURSELF.'

CLARA BAKER

Dr Clara Barker is a material scientist at Oxford University. Last year Clara also became the vice-chair of the LGBT+ Advisory Group for the university and volunteers at two Oxford LGBT+ youth and young adult groups. She strongly believes in allowing people to be themselves and to be judged on what they do, not who they happen to be.

Taking place every year on 31 March, Trans Day of Visibility celebrates the achievements of trans people across the globe, while recognising the work still required to make transphobia a thing of the past.

At Stonewall we're proud to work with lots of inspirational trans people. Sharing their stories helps to challenge prejudice and assumptions so that all trans people can be accepted without exception.

Visit www.stonewall.org.uk for more information and resources.

